

New faculty in Sound Recording

Richard King

Richard King holds a Bachelor of Music from Dalhousie University in Halifax, Nova Scotia, and a Master of Music/Major in Sound Recording from McGill University. After two seasons of recording at the Tanglewood Music Center in Massachusetts, summer home of the Boston Symphony, he moved to New York to work for Sony in 1992.

Before joining the Schulich School of Music, Richard was a Senior Recording Engineer at Sony Music Studios in NYC, specializing in the location recording of orchestra, chamber music, jazz, and film scores. He has engineered a wide variety of recordings for Compact Disc, SACD, Film, DVD, in both stereo and various surround formats. He has also remastered numerous analog recordings for reissue on CD & SACD Surround.